Summer Reading is Killing Me
By Jon Scieszka

(Pg 6-7) This is going to be impossible to explain. But I think I know what happened. My life has not been the same since my uncle Joe gave me THE BOOK -- a book like no book I've ever read before or since. It's a time-warping book. I know. I know. You're saying to yourself . . . . "What's with this guy? He probably still believes in the Easter Bunny and the Tooth Fairy."

I didn't really believe it myself. Then Sam and Fred and I opened THE BOOK. We have been chased by a woolly mammoth, turned into mummies and nearly suffocated by one very nasty-smelling giant. (Beat) And once we go to another time, the only way to get back to our time is to find THE BOOK in that time . . . So anyway, there we were – sitting in my room the very first day of summer vacation . . . We were trying to be careful. We really were!

INTRODUCTION

Summer Reading is Killing Me by Jon Scieszka

FOR EDUCATIONAL USE ONLY

4NG Fanatics

FRED: (Pg 8-9) No more classes, no more books. No more teachers' dirty looks!

SAM: (pointing to a book on the bookshelf) Can we please promise not to open THE BOOK and get sucked into some time-travel trouble like we always do?

FRED: I'm with you. We don't have to open any books!

SAM: Well, now that you mention books . . . I was thinking we might get an early start on this list.

FRED: Summer reading list? Are you crazy. This is vacation.

SAM: (Reading aloud from the list) Each student must read four books during the summer and fill out the attached study guide for two of them. The list has Hatchet, The Phantom Tollbooth, The Hoboken Chicken Emergency . . .

(Pg 10-12) Fred did a half-twist flip off the bed and took Sam's list. He stuck it in a book from my shelf, shoved the book back and jumped back onto the bed.

JOE: (stares, aghast at the bookshelf) Forget it you guys! You don't have to decide!

SAM: What do you mean we don't have to decide?

JOE: (pointing to the bookshelf) We have about three seconds before this green mist leaking off my bookshelf decides for us!

All three of us stared at the wisps of green mist swirling out of the thin blue book with silver designs.

FRED: Aww no . . . How did that happen? I didn't do nothing.

SAM: Anything. You didn't do anything except put our summer reading list inside THE BOOK!

Then the familiar green mist washed over us. And we were flung through time and space to who knows when or where.

*****

FRED: (Pg 16) (looking around cautiously) We can't be in a book. That only happens in movies. There is no way I am going to spend my summer vacation in a book.

SAM: This is very weird, but quite possibly true. What if story characters are real? What if they have a life we just don't know about.

JOE: (Pg 20-21) Oh no . . We are in huge trouble. If this means what I think it means, all of the characters from every book on the summer reading list are mixed up here. And none of them are in their books where they're supposed to be. The librarian is going to kill us.

4NG Fanatics

SAM: What if the Red Queen says, "Off with Ramona's head!?"

JOE: What if the Twits mess up Wayside School?

SAM: What if the Tripods take over the Little House on the Prairie? We have to get everyone back in the right book!

JOE: (Pg 22-23) We have to get back THE BOOK and take the summer reading list out of it before anything happens! . . . . THE LIBRARY!

(Pg 25-27) We took off. We passed old houses, an alley, a street lined with shops and in just a few minutes we were at the corner of the park. Just then we heard a wild yelling and the sound of stomping footsteps behind us. Dracula was dragging Winnie-the Pooh in a headlock. Mr. Twit was breaking Harold's purple crayon. Twenty different bad guys from twenty different books were chasing, hauling and pushing all kinds of characters up the steps of a big old brick building.

FOR EDUCATIONAL USE ONLY

FRED: (Pg 28) (Reading the sign on the building) Hoboken Public Library!

SAM: The one building in Hoboken that we need to get into is packed with every bad guy from every book ever written! (The boys sneak into the library) (Pg 33) (in a whisper) I see it, but I don't believe it. That's Mrs. Twit tying up Marry Poppins and Encyclopedia Brown.

JOE: That's Frankenstein holding Pippi Longstocking

FRED: They even got Mother Goose.

RED QUEEN: (Pg 34-35) Off with their heads!

CHARACTER FROM LORD OF THE FLIES: Kill the pig! Cut his throat! Bash him in!

JOE: I don't know what's going on here, but it doesn't look good. Let's sneak up those stairs and start looking for THE BOOK – quick!

And it probably would have been a good plan. But we were only halfway up the stairs when we heard a voice that could only be talking to us . . .

4NG Fanatics

DEVIL: You three boys. What book are you from? Come here now!

FRED: Is that who I think it is?

JOE: Do you know any other red guy with two horns and a pointed tail? (to the Devil) (Pg 38) We're the Time Warp Trio!

DEVIL: (Looking at his list) I have no Time Warp Trio!

RED QUEEN: (Pg 38) Off with their heads!

SAM: We're probably not under Time Warp Trio because we're actually a series . . .

FRANKENSTEIN: (Groaning and making a move toward them) Series . . . bad!

THE DEVIL: (Pg 39-40) (Stroking his beard) Maybe you can make this easier on all of us. What we are doing here is separating the good characters from the bad characters. The bad characters stay here and take over any story they like . . . And the good characters go there . . . to be crushed by those huge stacks of books and wiped out of stories forever! So . . . are you good characters . . . or bad characters?

(Pg 42-43) Then the door with LIBRARIAN written on the glass slammed open with a bang.

FOR EDUCATIONAL USE ONLY

TEDDY: What is going on out here?!

FRED: A . . . . a . . . teddy bear?

TEDDY: (Pg 44) That's Mr. Bear to you, kid! (The boys try to hold in their laughter) This is exactly what I'm talking about. Just because I'm a teddy bear, I get no respect. Everyone thinks I'm soft and huggable and stupid! What exactly is the holdup here? Why isn't everyone being crushed?

DEVIL: (Pg 45-50) We were . . .uh . . I was just . . . checking in these three characters.

TEDDY: Characters? Hah! They aren't characters from a book. These are three kids. In fact, they are just the kind of readers I get no respect from – wise-guy boys! Throw them in the crusher now! (Frankenstein lumbers to do his bidding)

JOE: (Screaming) Now just one minute! Look, Mr. Teddy – I mean Mr. Bear. It is true that we are not the biggest fan of teddy bear books . . . but crushing all of the good characters from every other book is not going to solve anything. (trying to sound very adult and reasonable) Just look how dumb these books sound without their main characters.

4NG Fanatics

SAM: There are giant holes in every story. (he picks up a book and reads) "Run run run as fast as you can. You can't catch me, I'm the blankety blank?"

JOE: (grabbing another book) The Hoboken Chicken Emergency is just The Emergency

FRED: (picking up a third book) Sylvester and the Magic Pebble is And the Magic Pebble.

TEDDY: Aww, that is so sweet. You are worried about all the poor little books. Well, don't worry. The new titles of those books will be The Teddy Bear Emergency, Teddy Bear and the Magic Pebble and The Teddy Bear Man! (Raises his arms and laughing a crazy villain laugh at the ceiling) Frankenstein in Wonderland . . . Green Eggs and Dracula.

FRANKENSTEIN AND THE RED QUEEN: (Cheering) Ted-dy! Ted-dy! Ted-dy!

TEDDY: (Pg 58-59) Crush those boys now!

FRED: We'll never make it to the door. Quick. Up these stairs!

We charged up the steps two at a time. Captain Ahab, the Devil and a red-golden dragon climbed after us. We reached the top landing, blocked by the stack of books that had been meant to crush us.

FOR EDUCATIONAL USE ONLY

JOE: (To the boys) Get back here and push! (They give a massive shove.

SAM: (Pg 60-61) Nice shot!

TEDDY: You are making me angry!

We couldn't hold out for much longer. I looked around for a way to escape. Stairs blocked. Window too high to reach. That's when I saw our salvation! A thin blue book covered with silver stars and moons. A folded list stuck out of the middle. THE BOOK!

TEDDY: (Pg 62-64) I will squash you! I will flatten you like the bugs you are! No one ruins my plans. I will be the most famous character in every story!

FRED: Give me some cover . . .

Fred jumped the handrail and slid down, launched a perfect flip over the Devil's horns and rocketed up toward THE BOOK. Now I don't know if everything really slowed down like it always does in those kung-fu movies. But it sure looked like it to me. Fred bobbled THE BOOK, pulled the summer reading list out and then fell into a pileup of

4NG Fanatics

Teddy Bear, Devil, and the Red Queen. We thought Fred was history.

Then I saw the wisp of pale green smoke rising from the pile of characters. A whirling tornado of pale green mist sucked up every character and book inside and outside the Hoboken Public Library . . . and we were gone.

(Pg 65) Fred landed on top of my desk, surrounded by the pileup of books that had been blown off my shelves. In one hand he held THE BOOK. IN the other hand he held the summer reading list. I looked at the pile of books and had a terrible thought. Fred and I attacked the books, flipping through all of them looking for . . .

JOE: Here's the Hoboken Chicken. She made it back into her book.

FRED: The Twits are both here

JOE: (Pg 67-69) Mary Poppins, Charlotte, Frog and Toad – everybody's back! (the boys laugh in relief)

ANNA: Ahem! (the boys freeze) Ahem!

It was my little sister Anna, standing in the doorway.

ANNA: I don't really want to know what you are doing. I just wanted to ask you if you have any ribbon I can use for my . . .

FOR EDUCATIONAL USE ONLY

4NG Fanatics

Anna held out her stuffed toy. And before the words "teddy Bear" were even out of her mouth, the three of us dove into my closet

TOGETHER: (Cowering in fear) NOoooooooo!

SOURCE INFORMATION

Author: Jon Scieszka
ISBN: 978-0141308203
Publisher: June 2000
Date (Month/Year): Puffin Books

AWARD HISTORY

2004 National Qualifier

FOR EDUCATIONAL USE ONLY