The Boss Baby

Adapted by Tracey West

based on the DreamWorks Animation movie written by Michael McCullers.

TIM: (Pg 1-3) My name is Tim, and this is my story. It starts when I was seven years old. It was just the three of us – the Templetons. Me, Mom, and Dad. I was the star of the Templeton family show and I had the greatest parents ever. They had the coolest jobs! They worked for Puppy Co. and got to test out all the new products for puppies. Every night, we had our special bedtime ritual. Three stories. Five hugs. They would tuck me in and I would drift off to sleep, perfectly content. Then one night something different happened. Mom and Dad read me three stories. They gave me five hugs . . . Then . . .

DAD: Hey, Tim, how would you like to have a baby brother?

TIM: That's when everything changed . . .

INTRODUCTION

Boss Baby adapted by Tracey West – based on the DreamWorks Animation movie written by Michael McCullers

TIM: (Pg 4-5) The day I got a brother started out like any other day, but little did I know that my life would never be the same. My parents always said that I had an overactive imagination, but I clearly remember that he was delivered in a taxi. (Tim peers out his bedroom window in shock) He walked past my bicycle and kicked it over. Then he strutted excitedly up to the front door. I ran downstairs. Mom was holding Boss Baby in her arms, just like he was a normal baby.

DAD: (smiling) Tim, meet your new baby brother.

TIM: Baby brother? Who is this guy? Why is he so fat? Why's he staring at me? What's going on? But before I could ask any of them.

BOSS BABY: (crying loudly in a rather fake adult voice)

TIM: Right from the start he was yelling at people, ordering everyone around. One thing was clear, he was the boss.

 dinner time a few months later the parents are feeding the baby ********

MOM: (Pg 7-10) Who's Mommy's little cutie?

FOR EDUCATIONAL USE ONLY

DAD: No, he's Daddy's little tough guy, right?

TIM: (to audience) I couldn't take it anymore! (to parents) Ugh! We need to talk. In private!

DAD: About what, bud?

TIM: About the B-A-B-E-E.

MOM: Y, Tim.

TIM: Why? Because he came out of nowhere. We don't even know him. How can we trust him? Seriously, am I the only one who thinks there's something weird about this guy? Look at him! He wears a suit!

MOM: I know. Isn't it cute. He's like a little man.

TIM: He carries a briefcase. Doesn't anyone else think that's a little freaky?

DAD: (smiling) Well, you carried about Lam-Lam until you were like . .

TIM: This is not about Lam-Lam! He's taking over the whole house!

MOM: (To baby) Are you taking over the whole house? Yes, you are! Yes, you are!

BOSS BABY: (Giggles and coos until Mom looks away, then turns to stare at Tim and nods deliberately with an evil look on his face)

TIM: I knew it! He DID understand everything we were saying . . . (Pg 11-13) That night [after] Mom and Dad were already asleep I heard a phone ring. (Tim tiptoes to the baby's room and peeks around the door frame)

BOSS BABY: (in a deep adult voice talking on a toy phone) I'm making great progress with the parents already. Sleep deprivation, hunger strikes. They're very disoriented. I've got them eating out of the palm of my hand. But I think the kid might be onto me . . . No, I can handle him. You got the right baby for this job.

TIM: (flipping on the light switch and jumping into the room) Hands up!

BOSS BABY: (drops the phone and in a baby's voice) Fart! Poop! Doodie!

TIM: You can talk!

BOSS BABY: Uh, goo-goo ga-ga.

TIM: No. You can really talk. I heard you!

BOSS BABY: (in his adult voice again) Fine. I can talk. (Pg 38) The truth is, I'm no ordinary baby. I'm on a mission from above. I'm middle management for the company.

TIM: The company? What company?

FOR EDUCATIONAL USE ONLY

BOSS BABY: (Pg 40-41) Baby Corp.

TIM: Where babies come from?

BOSS BABY: Of course. What did you think? The stork? Magic fairies? If people knew where babies really came from they'd never have one. Same thing with hot dogs, by the way. . . After normal babies get their pacifiers taken away, the forget all about Baby Corp. A few of us are selected for the ultimate honor . . . Upper management! We drink a super secret baby formula that keeps us babies forever. (Pg 13-14) Let's just say . . . I'm the boss

TIM: But you're a baby. You wear diapers.

BOSS BABY: (he walks over to the closet, pushes aside a box of diapers, revealing a safe. He spins the combination, and takes out a bottle) SUPER SECRET BABY FORMULA (he mixes himself a bottle and takes a long drink, wipes his mouth and speaks again) You know who else wears diapers? Astronauts and race-car drivers, that's who. It's called efficiency, Templeton. The average toddler spends what – 45 hours a year on the potty? I'm the boss. I don't have that kind of spare time.

TIM: Well, you're not the boss of me!

BOSS BABY: I AM the boss of you.

TIM: Are not

BOSS BABY: Am too

TIM: Are not

BOSS BABY: Am too

TIM: Are not! I was here first. Just wait till Mom and Dad find out about this.

BOSS BABY: (pointing his finger in Tim's face) Oh yeah? You think they'd pick you over me? With your track record? (Takes out a clipboard from under his blanket) Says here your grades are mostly C's. You can't ride a bike without training wheels. Even bears can ride bikes without training wheels. . . . Date of birth says you're seven. You're old. It's time to make way for the next generation. It's the way of the world.

TIM: Mom and Dad don't even know you. They love me!

BOSS BABY: Oh yeah? Do the math, kid. There's only so much love to go around. There's not enough love for the two of us. There's no place for Tim! Tim doesn't fit anymore. So keep quiet, stay out of my way, or there's gonna be cutbacks.

FOR EDUCATIONAL USE ONLY

TIM: (uncertainly) You can't be fired from your own family. (to audience) I left Boss Baby's room and went back to bed. I fell asleep with no stories and no hugs. What if you could be fired from your family?

* The Baby meeting (aka play date) *********

TIM: (Pg 19-24) The next morning, I felt a whole lot better. I had a plan! All I had to do was prove to my parents that Boss Baby wasn't a real baby. Then they would send him back to the baby store (or whatever they called that weird place he came from). I jumped out of bed, grabbed a microphone and recorder, put on my spy gear, complete with spy glasses, a mask, and mittens and made my way down the hallway. Everything was going smoothly until I stepped on one of the baby's toys and tumbled down the stairs. (Tim looks around him in shock) I was surrounded by babies! Mom? Dad? What's going on? It's an invasion!

MOM: It's a play date! (Mom exits to the kitchen to join the other parents)

BOSS BABY: (in his adult voice) It's a meeting . . . and you won't be attending. (to the other babies) Thank you for coming here on such short notice. We babies are having a crisis. Teddy, if you please. (He picks up a teddy bear and tilts its head back revealing a projector) (as the film rolls) You see, babies aren't getting as much love as we used to. Behold, our mortal enemy: puppies! Throughout history, people have loved babies more than anything in the world. Puppies were merely . . accessories. But that all changed when the puppies began coming out in designer models. Remember the Labradoodle? The Peekapoo? And things are getting even worse. Francis Francis, the CEO of Puppy Co made this announcement. Teddy, roll the clip.

FRANCIS: Puppy Co is about to release the most adorable puppy ever. (Pg 69) The Forever Puppy! Imagine a puppy that never gets old. Never grows up. A puppy that stays a puppy forever. It'll be sooooo adorable! (Pg 24) It's going to crush the competition!

BOSS BABY: NO! We are the competition. This is war! Puppies are winning and babies are losing. And if this puppy is as cute as we fear, it could put the baby business out of business, baby.

 later that night – Tim and Boss Baby are alone in the nursery*

BOSS BABY: (Pg 46-51) The Pet Convention is in two days and I've got nothing . . . I could get fired!

TIM: Hey, relax. I'm sure there's other cool jobs for babies, right. Meanwhile, two days goes by like that. You'd better start packing.

BOSS BABY: You don't get it Templeton! If I'm fired, they'll take away my formula! I'll turn into a normal baby and then live here forever with you. Every morning you wake up, I'll be there. Every night at dinner, I'll be there. Every birthday party. Every Christmas. I'll be there. Year after year. We'll grow old together. We'll be brothers. Always!

FOR EDUCATIONAL USE ONLY

TIM: Noooooo! You can't stay here. We have to fix this. We have to make sure you don't get fired. I will help you. But just to get rid of you. Deal?

BOSS BABY: Deal. Here's to never seeing you again. Now let's get to work.

TIM: (to audience) We had to move fast. I carried Boss Baby down to the living room. Both my parents had fallen asleep on the couch, in the middle of doing work stuff. Their Puppy Co files were scattered on the coffee table. PERFECT! (They begin to search through files.) Wait a second. This is it! (Tim holds up a flyer) Check it out. It's for Puppy Co's Take Your Kid to Work Day! [TOMORROW!] We can get inside Puppy Co!

TRANSITION

The next day Mom and Dad take Tim and Boss Baby to work with them. And while Mom and Dad are busy working . . . they find the office of FRANCIS FRANCIS for the ultimate confrontation!

FRANCIS: (Pg 69) (evil laugh) Once I launch my Forever Puppies, no one will ever love a baby ever again! The end of babies . . . the end of Baby Corp!

BOSS BABY: (Pg 67-69) (Boss baby stops sucking on his bottle and recognizes Francis) Super Colossal Big Fat Boss Baby? How did you end up here?

FRANCIS: A long, long time ago, I was a hot-shot executive, headed straight to the top! They gave me a promotion . . the corner office . . . my very own BOSS BABY: Personal potty?

FRANCIS: Everyone loved me. I had it all. It thought they loved me. But I was wrong. They fired me and took away my special formula. Then they sent me down to live with a f-family. Baby Corp stole all the love from me, and now I'm going to take it back with . . . the Forever Puppy.

BOSS BABY: (Pg 70-71) Ha! A puppy that never grows up is impossible.

FRANCIS: You're right. Why, you'd need some sort of . . . youth formula. (Francis grabs Boss Baby's bottle)

BOSS BABY: My super secret baby formula! You'll never get away with this.

FRANCIS: (Pg 93) Baby Corp is through! I win! Ha!

BOSS BABY: Wrong!

FOR EDUCATIONAL USE ONLY

TIM: Boss Baby grabbed [his SUPER SECRET BABY FORMULA] from Francis Francis and handed it to me. I knew just what to do with it. I shoved it into Francis's mouth. For the first time in many years, that big baby was back! (Pg 100) He wasn't a businessman anymore. The formula had turned him back into a fat little baby again.

FRANCIS: (sucking his thumb) You ruined everything! It's not fair! It's not fair!

****

TIM: (Pg 102-103) Boss Baby and I had done it. We had saved Baby Corp. So we both should have been pretty happy right? But I really wasn't. Because it was time for Boss Baby to go back to Baby Corp. (to Boss Baby) Congratulations on your promotion. The corner office, the private potty, all that stuff.

BOSS BABY: But hey, how about you? You have your parents all to yourself.

TIM: So, what am I gonna tell Mom and Dad after you leave?

BOSS BABY: Don't worry. Baby Corp has a procedure for situations like this. It'll be like, uh . . . I was never born.

TIM: (Pg 105-1068) (to audience) A bunch of Baby Corp. workers came and got rid of everything that was Boss Baby's. Every toy, every pacifier. They used a wand to erase my parents' memories. They offered it to me, but I refused. I wanted to remember Boss Baby. I missed him like crazy. The cute way he drooled. Our adventures together. I wrote him a letter.

Dear Boss Baby,

It turns out there's plenty of love to go around. And to prove it to you, I would like to offer you a job. It will be hard work and there will be no pay. But I promise you this: Every morning when you wake up, I will be there. Every night at dinner, I will be there. Every birthday party, every Christmas morning, I will be there. Year after year after year. We will grow old together. And you and I will always be brothers.

I sent the letter to Baby Corp . . . I didn't hear anything . . . then one morning . . . . a taxi cab turned down my street.

MOM: Tim, look who's here!

DAD: It's your new baby . . .

TIM: BROTHER! (to audience) I stared into the eyes of my baby brother. I knew he was going to take over the whole house and boss everyone around, day and night . . . and I wouldn't have wanted it any other way.

FOR EDUCATIONAL USE ONLY

SOURCE INFORMATION

Author: Adapted by Tracey West – based on the DreamWorks Animation movie written by Michael McCullers
ISBN: 978-1481470063
Publisher: Simon Spotlight
Date (Month/Year): Feb 2017

AWARD HISTORY

2018 National Qualifier
2021 National Qualifier – MS
KS State Qualifier
MN State Qualifier

FOR EDUCATIONAL USE ONLY