We're back with a second round of interp scripts that are perfect for middle school competitors.

We have been overwhelmed with the response from coaches across the country who appreciate our efforts to collect scripts for this target audience.

SpeechGeek is proud to publish a wide variety of selections geared for multiple ages, styles, and types and competitors. It's hard to find that "right" script for a new competitor. We're just glad to help.

I hope you enjoy these scripts. If you have ideas for future types of scripts for SpeechGeek Presents, please send an email to thegeek@speechgeek.com!

Rose and June

by Bonny McDonald

JUNE. Hey? Well, good morning. Isn't it nice for you kids to visit us old people? Yeah, yeah, it's windy. Eh…Ifyou talk about the weather I'm gonna SMACK yeh. SMACK. (She laughs conspiratorially.) Yeah, that's funny, yeah. I'm very funny, alright. Aren't you a nice one. That one who visited me yesterday, she was a pretty one. You're…you're a nice one, yes. Funny little nose, but…nice. What's that? What, dear? WHAT? Well, my feet are just killing me, just KILLING me and my sister's gone crazy, so don't ask me again how I'm doing.

JUNE. Now I have some pictures to show yeah. Mmmmhmm. Now this one—I worked 37 years in the theatre—here we are at the theatre—there's Rose my sister—she's uglier than me, eh? Heh. Ugly. Yes, pretty ugly. An here's me, in my boxy dress. But look, look this one—this is the dress I wore to the school dance. What? Oh, no, I went by myself. Nobody asked me and I was perty sad, but my mother was always sayin', "Life is short, life is short" and I said to here, I said, "I'm not going to dance because nobody asked me!" You see, I was very proud, but that's not any fun, is it? No, so she said, "WELL," she said, "life is short so you might as well go dancing anytime, somebody or nobody asked ya." You might as well! Look at that dress. Just look at it. Red, huh? SEXY! Seeexy. That's me. I went by myself. Pertier than Rose, though nobody asked me. Somebody'd asked Rose. Nice boy. She doesn't remember him now. You've met Rose, right? …Next door to me! She lives right there next door. We've lived here for 30 years, can you believe it? Mr. Howell keeps the rent just as it was then, nice man. Not too bright, is he? But nice. Funny voice, though, but nice…Oh, she's inside, don't like to let her out too much, she's so crazy! But well, let's let her out so she can get a look at you.

JUNE. Rose?!?!?!? Rose, come out and meet our new neighbor…Yes, a college girl. Here we go.
ROSE. A new kitty?
JUNE. Listen to her, a new kitty. NO A NEW NEIGHBOR.
ROSE. Well, hello, I can hardly see you I'm so blind. You know, I'm 93 years old. Mmm hmm, mmm hmm. 93.
JUNE. You wondered why I look so funny, I'm 95!
ROSE. Aren't you a darling. Oh, look, it's Jack rubbin' on me. Hello Mr. Jack. That cat is so bad.
JUNE. She thinks it's Jack—we used to have a cat named Mr. Jack when we was little, we did.

CAST

STATES THE OBVIOUS GIRL	(GIRL.)
REMARKABLE MAN	(MAN.)
AMBIGUOUS WOMAN	(VILLAIN.)
CHIEF
RUBY SANCHEZ	(REPORTER.)

SCENE 1

REPORTER. Breaking Headline News. The bank is being robbed. Currently, there are three hostages being held. Tied up in rope, their mouths duct-taped shut, and guns pointed at their heads. And all against their will. The identity of the bank-robber is still unknown. Police are on standby waiting for a list of demands from the perpetrator. Back to you, Chief.

CHIEF. The identity of the bank-robber is still unknown. But we are on standby. Waiting. For demands. And doughnuts. (to the side) Where's that Larry?

REPORTER. Thank you, Chief. Remember, I'm Ruby Sanchez and even though you heard it first on CNN, I tell it better. Because I'm pretty.

CHIEF. Hey Ruby. There's something in the sky. Is it a bird?

REPORTER. Is it the ozone layer?

MAN. No, it's me. Remarkable Man. Fear not local citizens for I will conquer this fiendish foe using my remarkable powers. With the help of my daughter, States The Obvious Girl.

GIRL. We're related!

MAN. Here's the game-plan. I'm going to use to my laser beams to penetrate the back entrance. Then we'll deactivate the security system and turn off the lights so the bad guy won't know what's coming.

GIRL. Can't we use the front door?

MAN. No, that would be too simple. And I'm Remarkable Man. Nothing is simple.

GIRL. Men are complicated. Look! A hostage! They're tied up so they can't move.

MAN. Good job. Now where's the bad guy?

GIRL. We could ask the hostages. But they can't speak because they have duct tape on their mouths.

VILLAIN. Very clever. Your daughter's almost as clever as you, Remarkable Man.

GIRL. Look! A bad guy!

MAN. That's not a bad guy. It can't be. She's a woman.

GIRL. Women are female!

VILLAIN. What's the matter, Remarkable Man? You've never fought a real bad guy before?

GIRL. Yes, he has.

VILLAIN. That was a rhetorical question sweet-cheeks.

GIRL. She called me sweet-cheeks, Daddy.

MAN. How many times do I have to tell you? Don't call me Daddy in front of the bad guys. It's not intimidating.

GIRL. I messed up!

VILLAIN. My name is Kitty Thorn. But you can call me Ambiguous Woman.

GIRL. Where'd you get that name from?

VILLAIN. From someone I know. (beat) Well, I'd love to stay and chat, but I have to leave.

GIRL. Where are you going?

VILLAIN. Somewhere.

GIRL. She's running away!

VILLAIN. Don't follow me. Or else.

GIRL. Or else what?

VILLAIN. Or else something bad will happen.

GIRL. Look, Daddy! A bomb! If you run after Ambiguous Woman, then you won't be able to defuse the bomb and the hostages will die. That's probably what she meant when she said something bad will happen.

MAN. Good job. I better defuse that bomb.

GIRL. What are you waiting for?

MAN. There's still ten seconds left. A good superhero always waits until there's only one second left to defuse the bomb.

GIRL. Because it's dramatic!

MAN. That's right. Good job. (Waits a few seconds. Defuses the bomb with his "powers.")

GIRL. You defused the bomb and saved our lives!

MAN. But the bad guy got away.

GIRL. You'll get them next time, Daddy. You always do.

SCENE 2

(MAN is reading a newspaper.)

GIRL. Hello, Daddy. I just saved a kitten from a tree.

MAN. Good job.

GIRL. And I helped an old lady across the street.

MAN. Good job.

GIRL. And I got on 'A' on my history report: "The Louisiana Purchase Cost Money."

MAN. Good job.

GIRL. Do you have anything else to say?

MAN. Nope. But I have to log onto my hotmail for SOS emails. They just upgraded my account to 10 gigabytes. Now I have storage room for spam mail. Some of them make me LOL.

GIRL. Can I help?

MAN. No. Just have fun. Invite a friend over.

GIRL. Superheroes don't need friends. You don't have any friends. And I want to be just like you.

MAN. You're just my sidekick. You're allowed to have friends.

GIRL. Does that mean I'm not a superhero?

MAN. I'm sure you're super to some people.

GIRL. But am I super to you?

MAN. (pause) You ask a lot of questions, kid. Have fun. Invite a friend over. I'll see you later. (The phone rings.)

GIRL. The phone is ringing! (picks up phone) Hello? No, Remarkable Man isn't here at the moment, can I take a message? It's an emergency? With danger? I'll be right there.

SCENE THREE

(VILLAiN is covering her face melodramatically so GIRL can't see her.)

GIRL. (approaching stage left) Hello? Is anyone there? If there's someone there I wouldn't know because you're not responding.

VILLAIN. Help! Help me!

GIRL. I'm coming. There's no reason to fear, because States The Obvious Girl is here. And I'm a superhero and I'll protect you from danger. So where's the danger?

VILLAIN. (reveals herself) The danger's right here sweet-cheeks.

GIRL. Hey! That sounds like something Ambiguous Woman would say. You look like Ambiguous Woman too. I think you are Ambiguous Woman!

VILLAIN. Maybe.

GIRL. So where's the danger?

VILLAIN. You're the one in danger.

GIRL. That's a plot twist!

VILLAIN. I'm going to hold you hostage and use you as bait. And when Remarkable Man comes, well, let's just say this is going to make headlines.

GIRL. That foreshadows danger! You're planning to hurt my Daddy!

VILLAIN. Quiet or I'll duct tape your mouth shut.

GIRL. Like a hostage!

VILLAIN. Now I'm going to call your father. So don't make a sound. Or else.

GIRL. Or else what?

VILLAIN. What's my name again?

GIRL. Ambiguous Woman. (pause) Oh, I get it.

VILLAIN. (to phone) Operator. Please connect me to Remarkable Man. Yes, I'll hold. (pause) Remarkable Man? Meet me on Third Street in an hour if you ever want to see your daughter again.

GIRL. That was ambiguous.

VILLAIN. (to GIRL) Thank you. (to phone) No, I wasn't talking to you. I was talking to your daughter. Yes, she's still alive. (pause) For now.

GIRL. That was also ambiguous.

VILLAIN. (to GIRL) Quiet.

GIRL. Sorry.

VILLAIN. (to phone) Bring all of your money. And come alone. Or your daughter gets it. (hangs up phone)

GIRL. Gets what?

VILLAIN. Gets it.

GIRL. I don't get it.

VILLAIN. Yes, you will get it.

GIRL. When will I get it?

VILLAIN. Get what?

GIRL. Get it.

VILLAIN. What do you want to get?

GIRL. I want to get it.

VILLAIN. Why would you want to get it?

GIRL. Because I don't get it.

VILLAIN. Oh shut up, you're confusing me.

GIRL. So when's my dad coming?

VILLAIN. Soon.

GIRL. Could you be any more ambiguous?

VILLAIN. Maybe. Maybe not.

GIRL. Are you going to hurt my daddy?

VILLAIN. Does death hurt?

GIRL. You're going to kill him?

VILLAIN. Now you get it?

GIRL. This is what I was going to get?

VILLAIN. No, you were going to get something else.

GIRL. Oh, I was going to get it. Now I get it. Hey! I don't want to get it. I don't want my daddy to get it either. You're gonna get it.

VILLAIN. You think you can take me down?

GIRL. You're older and bigger, but I'm a protagonist. And protagonists always win. Except for in tragedies. But this is a comedy.

VILLAIN. Maybe it's not. Maybe it's a tragedy disguised as a comedy to ameliorate the darker resolution that no matter how hard we try, we cannot attain our goals. Maybe our having superpowers is really a metaphorical representation that we carry the weight of the world on our shoulders and when expectations are set too high, even saving the world isn't enough to gain respect from the ones we love. From the ones we most want the respect to come from, but who never give it to us. Maybe.

GIRL. That was multifaceted and confusing. Let's start punching each other to distract us from thoughts of ineptitude. (Fight scene. Should be melodramatic and humorous. GIRL wins.) I have overcome you, Ambiguous Woman, the antagonist. For this is a comedy, not a tragedy. Look! The Chief is arriving just in the knick of time.

VILLAIN. You may have beaten me this time, but we'll meet again. Some day.

GIRL. And I will defeat you again, evildoer. For good always triumphs over evil.

VILLAIN. You think you've won, but you haven't.

GIRL. That was ambiguous. What do you mean?

VILLAIN. You think I'm the antagonist you wish to overcome. But I'm not.

GIRL. Then who is?

VILLAIN. Somebody you know.

GIRL. I choose to ignore your psychological poison. The protagonist has obviously won.

CHIEF. (handcuffs VILLIAN) You're absolutely remarkable States The Obvious Girl. Ambiguous Woman had plans to set the world on fire. But she needed Remarkable Man out of the way. But thanks to you, your father's safe, and so is the rest of Town City. My hat's to you, but not really because I'm balding and I'm embarrassed to remove my hat in public. You saved the world.

SCENE FOUR

(MAN is reading a newspaper. GIRL rushes to her father excitedly.)

GIRL. Hey, Daddy. You'll never believe what happened.

MAN. Yes, I will. I just saw it on CNN and then again from Ruby Sanchez because she's pretty and tells the story better.

GIRL. But don't you want to hear my story?

MAN. Shoot kid.

GIRL. Well I got this mysterious call signaling for help so I responded without thinking. I dashed over to assist, but it was Ambiguous Woman in disguise! She was planning to use me as a trap to lure you in and set the world on fire. But I unraveled her sinister plan and beat her up and now she's in jail and now she can't hurt anyone and I was interviewed on TV and the Chief awarded me a Medal of Honor and I was nominated for Best Superhero of the Month by the Fairness League and I had a cameo on Heroes and I met Milo Ventimiglia and he thinks I'm pretty and I saved the world! (pause) Well, what do you think?

MAN. Good job.

GIRL. (long pause) Is it ever enough?
