SpeechGeek

Season Eleven: Winter 2014

ISBN 978-1-61387-046-4 Price $25 US
http://www.speechgeek.com

SpeechGeek Season Eleven: Winter 2014

SpeechGeek
ISBN 978-1-61387-046-4

Corey Alderdice
Editor and Publisher

Email:
thegeek@speechgeek.com

248 Arlington Park Dr.
Hot Springs, AR 71901
(888) 742-2028

SpeechGeek is published up to four times per year: August, October, December, and April by Corey Alderdice, 248 Arlington Park Dr., Hot Springs, AR 71901. Special issues are also published from time to time.

http://www.speechgeek.com

As 2013 marches boldly and coldly toward its final days, the online monolith that is Amazon is experimenting with its drone delivery service. Though (at the time of this publication) customers won't anticipate their bulk orders of lip balm to be delivered by autonomous robots until at least 2015, folks are increasingly curious about the most efficient way to obtain their purchases. While we certainly respect the innovation and sheer "woah"-ness of the delivery drones, your friendly neighborhood SpeechGeek plans to stick with our current strategy of providing prompt digital downloads for online purchases. As recognized digital publishers by the National Forensic League, your electronic copy of SpeechGeek scripts is all you need to get competing. Don't forget your suit, though. That's pretty important, too.

If you're in need of printed scripts, stopwatches, or buttons – we still have you covered! While we can't promise delivery via an automated drone just yet (maybe by the time we're publishing Season Thirty), we do promise to package and ship your items at quickly as our human hands can do it. Welcome to a new year and five new interp scripts!

Corey Alderdice
Publisher

SpeechGeek

In This Issue: Season Eleven: Winter 2014

Duo Interpretation (Male/Male)
Pigskin
by Richard Shelton.....04

Dramatic Interpretation
Cat and Mouse
by Julia Neva.....09

Duo Interpretation (Male/Female)
The Best Worst Date
by Paul Owen.....12

Prose Interpretation (Female)
The Dragon Slayer of Eastman Senior High by Sarah Carpenter.....18

Dramatic Interpretation (Male)
Reflection
by Paul Owen.....21

Pigskin

by Richard Shelton

SCENE ONE

MARK. Every family has rituals. Some involve particular foods, places, or behaviors. Our ritual centers on the pigskin.

DAD. Get 'yer jersey on, son. The game is about to begin.

MARK. My earliest memories practically have buffalo sauce stains. My father and I would sit next to each other on the couch, surrounded by the weekly smorgasbord of junky food my otherwise healthy mother would lovingly prepare.

DAD. (shouting at television) Come on, Murphries, you better deliver a victory this time.

MARK. Outside of football, my dad and I couldn't be more different. I guess you could say I was a bit softer than my dad. I preferred to read and listen to music while he…

DAD. (screaming) Murphries? What? Was there a bone in the Gatorade? BECAUSE YOU'RE CHOKING!

MARK. …was tougher than me. Very tough.

DAD. You've gotta be kidding me! Can't you take a hit?

MARK. As I got older, high school football seemed like the obvious path way to a little bit of father-son bonding. Unfortunately, the only one I ended up bonding with was J.T.

J.T. (taunting MARK) Come on, Mark. You'd better deliver a victory this time.

MARK. I don't know what made him tic.

J.T. What? Was there a bone in your Gatorade? Because you're choking.

MARK. But I knew one thing.

J.T. (shoves) Can't you take a hit?

MARK. He wouldn't be content until I was sacked.

SCENE TWO

(MARK and J.T. are in uniform during a practice. The scene freezes when MARK addresses the audience.)

J.T. (grunts and stretches) Hunh! Ungh! Ahhh… I tell you something, nothing gets me going like crushing bodies on a Saturday morning, eh?

MARK. (to himself, rolling his eyes and adjusting his mouth guard) Yeah, right.

J.T. What?

MARK. Huh?

J.T. What did you say?

MARK. Oh, nothing.

J.T. (moves a bit closer to him) So, you're telling me you didn't just mumble something under your breath?

Reflection

by Paul Owen

(RANDY is standing in front of the mirror. He does this often since he basically has no friends. He is recounting his day thus far... It has not been that great.)

RANDY. (sighs) How's your day been so far? (listens intently) Oh, yeah? Really? No way, that's terrible. Why didn't you tell a teacher? Oh, right, you can't do that. That only makes it ten times worse. You wanna know what happened to me today? I was at my locker and I felt a nudge on my elbow. Turns out it was a girl! I know, right? Oh, yeah, it was completely awesome. Huh? No, of course not. I looked at her, and she freaked out and pretended not to notice me. It had obviously been an accident. What? Oh, yeah, she totally told her boyfriend... Oh, yeah. That's why I am in here. Swirlee. Yeah, twice. I smell like Mr. Conner's butt now. I know. It's kind of weird that the same thing happened to you, too. (beat) I guess that, uh, makes us friends now, right? Cool. Cool. Hey, maybe this weekend we could hang or something. I got this new...

(He is interrupted by a guy who enters the bathroom, RICO. Unfortunately, RANDY has been beaten to a pulp in the bathroom by RICO before.)

RICO. Hey, loser! What are you doing?

(RANDY jerks and freezes. He is clueless about how to explain himself.)

RANDY. Uh, nothing? I was just fixing my hair, you know, in the mirror.

RICO. Who were you talking to, then?

RANDY. No one. I was just practicing my speech for the, uh, thing… The thing tomorrow that requires a speech.

(RICO laughs.)

RICO. You are such a freaking loser, you know that? I am gonna be smokin' in this stall, so stay there and cover for me... then maybe I won't beat the crap out of you.

RANDY. Yeah, sure. Okay. (He looks back to the mirror and mouths.) I hate that guy! (He laughs with his "friend" and then gets a bit too loud.)

RICO. Hey, what's so funny?

RANDY. (He coughs and clears his throat.) Nothing, I was just... choking... to death... for a minute. I'm fine now. (He looks back at mirror and laughs again. He mouths to the mirror again.) I really wish I could be stronger—just for a day—because I would take him out back and beat him with a golf club until he bled out of his ears. (He laughs a bit quieter this time.)

RICO. Okay, loser. You get to live today. (He exits.)

RANDY. (He sighs.) Oh, man, that was close. Now it stinks in here. One day I am gonna stand up to him, and then everyone will see. (He thinks about it. Then he realizes that he is definitely dreaming.) Who am I kidding? I can't stand up to my little sister. But, in all fairness, she is a freak of nature. I mean, who still plays "house" and "marriage" when they are almost 15? She blames everything on her "female" issues, and we all know that trumps the parents every single time. I actually don't mind so much when she asks me to play if her friends are there, but it's kind of weird. They are middle schoolers and I am playing "house" with them. Sounds like something you could go to prison for, right? Anyway, well, it was nice to meet you. Maybe I'll see you at my house tonight? Okay. Cool.

(RANDY is now in his bathroom that evening. He is in a full argument with his sister, CORA. She is a pill. Anything anyone ever disliked about a sister is all rolled up into this girl.)

RANDY. I told you, Cora, shut up!

CORA. Make me, you freaking idiot! You have been in there forever. Are you talking to yourself again?

RANDY. Shut up and leave me alone! You are such an annoying freak.

CORA. Really? I am the freak? Who's best friend is a mirror, idiot?

RANDY. Yeah, well, who still plays house like a five-year-old girl? (Silence. He looks back into the mirror.) Right? I mean, come on. Who plays house when they are less than a year from driving a car. What a loser. (He stares into the mirror and realizes that, in fact, may be a loser, too.) But I am the one standing here talking to you in the bathroom. You.... Right. You... am I kidding? I'm not talking to a friend at all. I am talking to myself in a stupid mirror like somehow this is supposed to make me feel better or something. I don't even like myself, and I am spending my time consoling myself like it is gonna help or something. This sucks. You suck! I am sick of you just being there and staring at me like everyone else does. Just stop looking at me, okay! JUST STOP! (He is fuming and out of breath now. It is at this point that he realizes that he, in fact, has hurt his only "friend's" feelings.) Hey, look, I'm sorry. That was out of line, and I... I should go now. Look, do me a favor. Will you still be at school tomorrow? Really? You will? Good. No, really, I'm glad. Look, I won't yell at you again, okay? I just, I... just wish I had a friend out here, you know? One that I can actually see right here in the room. It'd be nice to not have to do all of my talking in bathroom that frankly smells like crap most for the time... no pun intended. Okay, yeah, I'll see you tomorrow.

(RANDY is back at school in the same bathroom as before. He is alone but seems much more serious than he has before. Something has happened today but he is afraid to talk about it. He looks into the mirror.)

RANDY. Hey, I was hoping I'd see you today. No, don't worry. No one's in here. Huh? No, I'm not okay at all, actually. Look... what I want to tell you... it's really serious. I mean, today... well, everything changed today. So, Rico came up to me today in the hallway and said that he was gonna beat me up in the bathroom. So I tried to hold it in as long as I could, but finally, I had to go, you know? So I went and waited. Yeah, I waited, actually. Because I had this... yeah, it's a knife. I've actually been carrying it to school for a while now. I never thought I'd actually... Well, he came in and walked up to me and.... I did it. I really... I... I took this knife, and I rammed it right in his stomach. Hard! And it felt really great, too. I mean, all of this built up anger like some kind of a burning fire inside... I just couldn't hold it back anymore. I was done. And he looked up at me, and I just stared back and started yelling at him. I said to him, "How does it feel now, you idiot? Huh? HOW DOES IT FEEL? Because you treat me like this every day and you mock me and insult me and I am sick of it! You think you're so cool and that you can say whatever you want and act however you want, but not anymore! So, how does it feel, now?" And he just laid there and didn't do anything. And... I looked up... and... I saw you. Watching me. And the face that you made... that face of shock and fear and accusation... I can never forget that look. No, no, don't act like you weren't there or that you didn't see because you did! You were so ashamed and you looked at me like I was the worst person on Earth... the one friend that I actually had and now even you are against me, too. But you know what? You are just as guilty as me. Because you just stood by and said nothing. You did nothing. You just watched the whole thing and didn't stop me! WHY DIDN'T YOU STOP ME? BECAUSE YOU'RE A FREAKING REFLECTION, THAT'S WHY! I am done with you. I am going home and leaving since they'll be after me soon, anyway. I'm done... and I never want to see you again.

(We are back at the house. He is in the bathroom, trying hard not to look up into the mirror.)

MOM. Randy? Randy, it's your mom. Open the door.

RANDY. I am not looking up, because I told you I never wanted to see you again and I don't.

MOM. Randy? What's going on? The police are here, and they are saying that you did something terrible.

RANDY. Mom...? I'll be out in a minute. It's gonna be okay. (Randy takes a deep breath and looks up into the mirror. He first glances and turns away quickly. Then he looks up again with tears in his eyes.) I'm sorry. I'm so sorry. (He turns back to his mother.) Mom, I'm coming out. (Then he looks back into the mirror.) Please, please be there for me wherever I'm going. Then I know that I can make it. I'll see you right? (He sighs a sigh of relief and turns to leave.)