The Yates Transcript

by Erica Mehl

The Yates Transcript by Erica Mehl

ISBN: 978-1-61387-007-5

Copyright 2012 by SpeechGeek.

Free performance of this play for high school and college level competitive forensics is permitted. All other rights reserved.

This PDF version of this selection, e-published in 2012, is identical to the printed published version of this same publication dated 2012. This statement along with the entire printed PDF of this publication must be presented at any National Forensic League District or National event for the script to comply with NFL rules per the request of the Executive Director.

This and other selections of quality performance literature for competitive oral interpretation are published by SpeechGeek.

For more information and performance rights, contact SpeechGeek.

SpeechGeek
806 Brownstone Way
Bowling Green, KY 42104

Phone: 1-888-742-2028
Email: thegeek@speechgeek.com
Web: www.speechgeek.com
Facebook: www.facebook.com/speechgeek

TEASER

ANDREA.

My name is Andrea Yates. I am 36 years old. My husband is Rusty. I stay at home with our five children—Noah is 7 years old. John is 5 years old, Paul is 3, Luke is 2 years old. Mary is 6 months old. This morning, I killed my children. All of them. I killed them because I am a bad mother. God wanted us all to be punished.

INTRODUCTION

It is impossible for any of us to understand how a parent could murder a child, and yet the latest figures show that nearly 200 children in the United States are killed every year by their own mothers. For Texas housewife, Andrea Yates, this unspeakable act occurred not only once, but 5 times. On the morning of June 20, 2001, Andrea drowned her children in the bathtub. Yates's 2002 conviction of capital murder was later overturned on appeal in 2006. She was committed by the court to a high-security mental hospital in Kerrville, Texas*, where she resides today. The question is: How do we even try to figure out why she did it? The following is Yates' edited confession just hours after the murders. "The Yates Transcript" by Erica Mehl.*

ANDREA.

Rusty and I met when we were both 25. In 1993, we were married and a year later had Noah. We told everyone that we thought God expected us to have six children. And we almost did.

After Noah was born, I heard Satan speak to me for the first time. So I told Rusty that I thought I needed some help. The doctors gave me medication for depression, but it didn't work. Rusty was at his wits end. He introduced me to his missionary friends, Michael and Rachel. I told Michael that I worried about Satan getting a hold on Noah and he told me that parents were to be held accountable for the actions of their children.

Rusty and I went on to have four more children—John, Paul, Luke, and Mary--and things were going well. His job at NASA was good and I was able to keep my spirits high, home-school the children, and teach them to be good, submissive Christian children.

A few weeks ago, Rachel was at the house when looked at me and said, "Andrea—don't you know that you are wicked? You are evil—all of us women are in God's eyes. We are daughters of Eve, who was a wicked witch and tricked Adam into eating of the Tree of Knowledge. Rusty told us that you don't listen to him. You know that a wife should do her husband's bidding—it is the wife's job to be subservient to her husband. Michael told Rusty that the window of opportunity for us to minister to you is closing. God is telling us that your children are on the path to evil because YOU are on the path to evil. You must repent or your children will suffer. I knew that something would have to be done.

Rusty left for work this morning at 9. When he left, the children were having their breakfast. They were eating their cereal and I had just given Mary her bottle. I filled the bathtub with water. It was time to do it. I needed to save them from everything—from me. I am a bad mother. I knew it had to be done. This was meant to be.

I let the water in the bathtub reach about 3 inches from the top. I went into the hallway and picked up my 3-year old, Paul. I put him in face-down. He struggled for a minute or two and then it was still. I laid him on the bed and covered him with a sheet. And then I did the same to Luke—he's two. And then it was John's turn—he's 5. I called him in and told him to get in the tub, but he wouldn't do it. So I grabbed him and put him in the water face-down. He thrashed around, but I was able to over-power him and then he stopped breathing. I put him on the bed with Paul and Luke. And then I put the baby, Mary in the tub. She had been crying on the floor of the bathroom the whole time. She barely fought me. It was easy for me to drown her. I left her in the tub and called my oldest, Noah, in to see me. He came into the bathroom, saw Mary floating in the water, and said, "What happened to Mary?"' I didn't say anything. He turned and ran out of the bathroom. I chased him down the hallway and grabbed him and put him in the tub. He's 7 and fought me so hard, but I overpowered him and held him face-down in the water while Mary was still in the tub with him. I took Mary out and put her on the bed, but I left Noah's body in the tub.

And then I called 911. I told them that I needed a police officer sent to my house at 942 Beachcomber Street. And then I called Rusty and told him to come home. I told him it was time—and I had finally done it. The police officers got there first and I told them that I had drowned the children. I led them to the bedroom and then to the tub where Noah was still floating face-down.

And then I could hear Rusty yelling and crying near the front door, but I didn't see him. I know it was hard for him. Rusty is a good man. A good father. He tried to help me. I had warned him before that this was going to happen. It was time for all of us to be punished for my not being a good mother. My children weren't righteous. They stumbled because I was evil. The way I was raising them they could never be saved. ... Luke Chapter 17 Verse 2 says that it is "better for someone else to tie a millstone around one's neck and cast them in a river than let them stumble."

They were going to perish if they kept being my children. I wanted God to take them up. Up to heaven and save them. Save them from me. And now Rusty is going to be rewarded—he can start all over again and have a good life—a clean slate. Don't you see? I saved us. I saved ALL of us…

Additional quality oral interpretation
literature is available online at
http://www.speechgeek.com

The Yates Transcript

by Erica Mehl

The Yates Transcript by Erica Mehl

ISBN: 978-1-61387-007-5

Copyright 2012 by SpeechGeek.

Free performance of this play for high school and college level competitive forensics is permitted. All other rights reserved.

This PDF version of this selection, e-published in 2012, is identical to the printed published version of this same publication dated 2012. This statement along with the entire printed PDF of this publication must be presented at any National Forensic League District or National event for the script to comply with NFL rules per the request of the Executive Director.

This and other selections of quality performance literature for competitive oral interpretation are published by SpeechGeek.

For more information and performance rights, contact SpeechGeek.

SpeechGeek
806 Brownstone Way
Bowling Green, KY 42104

Phone: 1-888-742-2028
Email: thegeek@speechgeek.com
Web: www.speechgeek.com
Facebook: www.facebook.com/speechgeek

TEASER

ANDREA.

My name is Andrea Yates. I am 36 years old. My husband is Rusty. I stay at home with our five children—Noah is 7 years old. John is 5 years old, Paul is 3, Luke is 2 years old. Mary is 6 months old. This morning, I killed my children. All of them. I killed them because I am a bad mother. God wanted us all to be punished.

INTRODUCTION

It is impossible for any of us to understand how a parent could murder a child, and yet the latest figures show that nearly 200 children in the United States are killed every year by their own mothers. For Texas housewife, Andrea Yates, this unspeakable act occurred not only once, but 5 times. On the morning of June 20, 2001, Andrea drowned her children in the bathtub. Yates's 2002 conviction of capital murder was later overturned on appeal in 2006. She was committed by the court to a high-security mental hospital in Kerrville, Texas*, where she resides today. The question is: How do we even try to figure out why she did it? The following is Yates' edited confession just hours after the murders. "The Yates Transcript" by Erica Mehl.*

ANDREA.

Rusty and I met when we were both 25. In 1993, we were married and a year later had Noah. We told everyone that we thought God expected us to have six children. And we almost did.

After Noah was born, I heard Satan speak to me for the first time. So I told Rusty that I thought I needed some help. The doctors gave me medication for depression, but it didn't work. Rusty was at his wits end. He introduced me to his missionary friends, Michael and Rachel. I told Michael that I worried about Satan getting a hold on Noah and he told me that parents were to be held accountable for the actions of their children.

Rusty and I went on to have four more children—John, Paul, Luke, and Mary--and things were going well. His job at NASA was good and I was able to keep my spirits high, home-school the children, and teach them to be good, submissive Christian children.

A few weeks ago, Rachel was at the house when looked at me and said, "Andrea—don't you know that you are wicked? You are evil—all of us women are in God's eyes. We are daughters of Eve, who was a wicked witch and tricked Adam into eating of the Tree of Knowledge. Rusty told us that you don't listen to him. You know that a wife should do her husband's bidding—it is the wife's job to be subservient to her husband. Michael told Rusty that the window of opportunity for us to minister to you is closing. God is telling us that your children are on the path to evil because YOU are on the path to evil. You must repent or your children will suffer. I knew that something would have to be done.

Rusty left for work this morning at 9. When he left, the children were having their breakfast. They were eating their cereal and I had just given Mary her bottle. I filled the bathtub with water. It was time to do it. I needed to save them from everything—from me. I am a bad mother. I knew it had to be done. This was meant to be.

I let the water in the bathtub reach about 3 inches from the top. I went into the hallway and picked up my 3-year old, Paul. I put him in face-down. He struggled for a minute or two and then it was still. I laid him on the bed and covered him with a sheet. And then I did the same to Luke—he's two. And then it was John's turn—he's 5. I called him in and told him to get in the tub, but he wouldn't do it. So I grabbed him and put him in the water face-down. He thrashed around, but I was able to over-power him and then he stopped breathing. I put him on the bed with Paul and Luke. And then I put the baby, Mary in the tub. She had been crying on the floor of the bathroom the whole time. She barely fought me. It was easy for me to drown her. I left her in the tub and called my oldest, Noah, in to see me. He came into the bathroom, saw Mary floating in the water, and said, "What happened to Mary?"' I didn't say anything. He turned and ran out of the bathroom. I chased him down the hallway and grabbed him and put him in the tub. He's 7 and fought me so hard, but I overpowered him and held him face-down in the water while Mary was still in the tub with him. I took Mary out and put her on the bed, but I left Noah's body in the tub.

And then I called 911. I told them that I needed a police officer sent to my house at 942 Beachcomber Street. And then I called Rusty and told him to come home. I told him it was time—and I had finally done it. The police officers got there first and I told them that I had drowned the children. I led them to the bedroom and then to the tub where Noah was still floating face-down.

And then I could hear Rusty yelling and crying near the front door, but I didn't see him. I know it was hard for him. Rusty is a good man. A good father. He tried to help me. I had warned him before that this was going to happen. It was time for all of us to be punished for my not being a good mother. My children weren't righteous. They stumbled because I was evil. The way I was raising them they could never be saved. ... Luke Chapter 17 Verse 2 says that it is "better for someone else to tie a millstone around one's neck and cast them in a river than let them stumble."

They were going to perish if they kept being my children. I wanted God to take them up. Up to heaven and save them. Save them from me. And now Rusty is going to be rewarded—he can start all over again and have a good life—a clean slate. Don't you see? I saved us. I saved ALL of us…

Additional quality oral interpretation
literature is available online at
http://www.speechgeek.com

The Yates Transcript

by Erica Mehl

The Yates Transcript by Erica Mehl

ISBN: 978-1-61387-007-5

Copyright 2012 by SpeechGeek.

Free performance of this play for high school and college level competitive forensics is permitted. All other rights reserved.

This PDF version of this selection, e-published in 2012, is identical to the printed published version of this same publication dated 2012. This statement along with the entire printed PDF of this publication must be presented at any National Forensic League District or National event for the script to comply with NFL rules per the request of the Executive Director.

This and other selections of quality performance literature for competitive oral interpretation are published by SpeechGeek.

For more information and performance rights, contact SpeechGeek.

SpeechGeek
806 Brownstone Way
Bowling Green, KY 42104

Phone: 1-888-742-2028
Email: thegeek@speechgeek.com
Web: www.speechgeek.com
Facebook: www.facebook.com/speechgeek

TEASER

ANDREA.

My name is Andrea Yates. I am 36 years old. My husband is Rusty. I stay at home with our five children—Noah is 7 years old. John is 5 years old, Paul is 3, Luke is 2 years old. Mary is 6 months old. This morning, I killed my children. All of them. I killed them because I am a bad mother. God wanted us all to be punished.

INTRODUCTION

It is impossible for any of us to understand how a parent could murder a child, and yet the latest figures show that nearly 200 children in the United States are killed every year by their own mothers. For Texas housewife, Andrea Yates, this unspeakable act occurred not only once, but 5 times. On the morning of June 20, 2001, Andrea drowned her children in the bathtub. Yates's 2002 conviction of capital murder was later overturned on appeal in 2006. She was committed by the court to a high-security mental hospital in Kerrville, Texas*, where she resides today. The question is: How do we even try to figure out why she did it? The following is Yates' edited confession just hours after the murders. "The Yates Transcript" by Erica Mehl.*

ANDREA.

Rusty and I met when we were both 25. In 1993, we were married and a year later had Noah. We told everyone that we thought God expected us to have six children. And we almost did.

After Noah was born, I heard Satan speak to me for the first time. So I told Rusty that I thought I needed some help. The doctors gave me medication for depression, but it didn't work. Rusty was at his wits end. He introduced me to his missionary friends, Michael and Rachel. I told Michael that I worried about Satan getting a hold on Noah and he told me that parents were to be held accountable for the actions of their children.

Rusty and I went on to have four more children—John, Paul, Luke, and Mary--and things were going well. His job at NASA was good and I was able to keep my spirits high, home-school the children, and teach them to be good, submissive Christian children.

A few weeks ago, Rachel was at the house when looked at me and said, "Andrea—don't you know that you are wicked? You are evil—all of us women are in God's eyes. We are daughters of Eve, who was a wicked witch and tricked Adam into eating of the Tree of Knowledge. Rusty told us that you don't listen to him. You know that a wife should do her husband's bidding—it is the wife's job to be subservient to her husband. Michael told Rusty that the window of opportunity for us to minister to you is closing. God is telling us that your children are on the path to evil because YOU are on the path to evil. You must repent or your children will suffer. I knew that something would have to be done.

Rusty left for work this morning at 9. When he left, the children were having their breakfast. They were eating their cereal and I had just given Mary her bottle. I filled the bathtub with water. It was time to do it. I needed to save them from everything—from me. I am a bad mother. I knew it had to be done. This was meant to be.

I let the water in the bathtub reach about 3 inches from the top. I went into the hallway and picked up my 3-year old, Paul. I put him in face-down. He struggled for a minute or two and then it was still. I laid him on the bed and covered him with a sheet. And then I did the same to Luke—he's two. And then it was John's turn—he's 5. I called him in and told him to get in the tub, but he wouldn't do it. So I grabbed him and put him in the water face-down. He thrashed around, but I was able to over-power him and then he stopped breathing. I put him on the bed with Paul and Luke. And then I put the baby, Mary in the tub. She had been crying on the floor of the bathroom the whole time. She barely fought me. It was easy for me to drown her. I left her in the tub and called my oldest, Noah, in to see me. He came into the bathroom, saw Mary floating in the water, and said, "What happened to Mary?"' I didn't say anything. He turned and ran out of the bathroom. I chased him down the hallway and grabbed him and put him in the tub. He's 7 and fought me so hard, but I overpowered him and held him face-down in the water while Mary was still in the tub with him. I took Mary out and put her on the bed, but I left Noah's body in the tub.

And then I called 911. I told them that I needed a police officer sent to my house at 942 Beachcomber Street. And then I called Rusty and told him to come home. I told him it was time—and I had finally done it. The police officers got there first and I told them that I had drowned the children. I led them to the bedroom and then to the tub where Noah was still floating face-down.

And then I could hear Rusty yelling and crying near the front door, but I didn't see him. I know it was hard for him. Rusty is a good man. A good father. He tried to help me. I had warned him before that this was going to happen. It was time for all of us to be punished for my not being a good mother. My children weren't righteous. They stumbled because I was evil. The way I was raising them they could never be saved. ... Luke Chapter 17 Verse 2 says that it is "better for someone else to tie a millstone around one's neck and cast them in a river than let them stumble."

They were going to perish if they kept being my children. I wanted God to take them up. Up to heaven and save them. Save them from me. And now Rusty is going to be rewarded—he can start all over again and have a good life—a clean slate. Don't you see? I saved us. I saved ALL of us…

Additional quality oral interpretation
literature is available online at
http://www.speechgeek.com

The Yates Transcript

by Erica Mehl

The Yates Transcript by Erica Mehl

ISBN: 978-1-61387-007-5

Copyright 2012 by SpeechGeek.

Free performance of this play for high school and college level competitive forensics is permitted. All other rights reserved.

This PDF version of this selection, e-published in 2012, is identical to the printed published version of this same publication dated 2012. This statement along with the entire printed PDF of this publication must be presented at any National Forensic League District or National event for the script to comply with NFL rules per the request of the Executive Director.

This and other selections of quality performance literature for competitive oral interpretation are published by SpeechGeek.

For more information and performance rights, contact SpeechGeek.

SpeechGeek
806 Brownstone Way
Bowling Green, KY 42104

Phone: 1-888-742-2028
Email: thegeek@speechgeek.com
Web: www.speechgeek.com
Facebook: www.facebook.com/speechgeek

TEASER

ANDREA.

My name is Andrea Yates. I am 36 years old. My husband is Rusty. I stay at home with our five children—Noah is 7 years old. John is 5 years old, Paul is 3, Luke is 2 years old. Mary is 6 months old. This morning, I killed my children. All of them. I killed them because I am a bad mother. God wanted us all to be punished.

INTRODUCTION

It is impossible for any of us to understand how a parent could murder a child, and yet the latest figures show that nearly 200 children in the United States are killed every year by their own mothers. For Texas housewife, Andrea Yates, this unspeakable act occurred not only once, but 5 times. On the morning of June 20, 2001, Andrea drowned her children in the bathtub. Yates's 2002 conviction of capital murder was later overturned on appeal in 2006. She was committed by the court to a high-security mental hospital in Kerrville, Texas*, where she resides today. The question is: How do we even try to figure out why she did it? The following is Yates' edited confession just hours after the murders. "The Yates Transcript" by Erica Mehl.*

ANDREA.

Rusty and I met when we were both 25. In 1993, we were married and a year later had Noah. We told everyone that we thought God expected us to have six children. And we almost did.

After Noah was born, I heard Satan speak to me for the first time. So I told Rusty that I thought I needed some help. The doctors gave me medication for depression, but it didn't work. Rusty was at his wits end. He introduced me to his missionary friends, Michael and Rachel. I told Michael that I worried about Satan getting a hold on Noah and he told me that parents were to be held accountable for the actions of their children.

Rusty and I went on to have four more children—John, Paul, Luke, and Mary--and things were going well. His job at NASA was good and I was able to keep my spirits high, home-school the children, and teach them to be good, submissive Christian children.

A few weeks ago, Rachel was at the house when looked at me and said, "Andrea—don't you know that you are wicked? You are evil—all of us women are in God's eyes. We are daughters of Eve, who was a wicked witch and tricked Adam into eating of the Tree of Knowledge. Rusty told us that you don't listen to him. You know that a wife should do her husband's bidding—it is the wife's job to be subservient to her husband. Michael told Rusty that the window of opportunity for us to minister to you is closing. God is telling us that your children are on the path to evil because YOU are on the path to evil. You must repent or your children will suffer. I knew that something would have to be done.

Rusty left for work this morning at 9. When he left, the children were having their breakfast. They were eating their cereal and I had just given Mary her bottle. I filled the bathtub with water. It was time to do it. I needed to save them from everything—from me. I am a bad mother. I knew it had to be done. This was meant to be.

I let the water in the bathtub reach about 3 inches from the top. I went into the hallway and picked up my 3-year old, Paul. I put him in face-down. He struggled for a minute or two and then it was still. I laid him on the bed and covered him with a sheet. And then I did the same to Luke—he's two. And then it was John's turn—he's 5. I called him in and told him to get in the tub, but he wouldn't do it. So I grabbed him and put him in the water face-down. He thrashed around, but I was able to over-power him and then he stopped breathing. I put him on the bed with Paul and Luke. And then I put the baby, Mary in the tub. She had been crying on the floor of the bathroom the whole time. She barely fought me. It was easy for me to drown her. I left her in the tub and called my oldest, Noah, in to see me. He came into the bathroom, saw Mary floating in the water, and said, "What happened to Mary?"' I didn't say anything. He turned and ran out of the bathroom. I chased him down the hallway and grabbed him and put him in the tub. He's 7 and fought me so hard, but I overpowered him and held him face-down in the water while Mary was still in the tub with him. I took Mary out and put her on the bed, but I left Noah's body in the tub.

And then I called 911. I told them that I needed a police officer sent to my house at 942 Beachcomber Street. And then I called Rusty and told him to come home. I told him it was time—and I had finally done it. The police officers got there first and I told them that I had drowned the children. I led them to the bedroom and then to the tub where Noah was still floating face-down.

And then I could hear Rusty yelling and crying near the front door, but I didn't see him. I know it was hard for him. Rusty is a good man. A good father. He tried to help me. I had warned him before that this was going to happen. It was time for all of us to be punished for my not being a good mother. My children weren't righteous. They stumbled because I was evil. The way I was raising them they could never be saved. ... Luke Chapter 17 Verse 2 says that it is "better for someone else to tie a millstone around one's neck and cast them in a river than let them stumble."

They were going to perish if they kept being my children. I wanted God to take them up. Up to heaven and save them. Save them from me. And now Rusty is going to be rewarded—he can start all over again and have a good life—a clean slate. Don't you see? I saved us. I saved ALL of us…

Additional quality oral interpretation
literature is available online at
http://www.speechgeek.com

The Yates Transcript

by Erica Mehl

The Yates Transcript by Erica Mehl

ISBN: 978-1-61387-007-5

Copyright 2012 by SpeechGeek.

Free performance of this play for high school and college level competitive forensics is permitted. All other rights reserved.

This PDF version of this selection, e-published in 2012, is identical to the printed published version of this same publication dated 2012. This statement along with the entire printed PDF of this publication must be presented at any National Forensic League District or National event for the script to comply with NFL rules per the request of the Executive Director.

This and other selections of quality performance literature for competitive oral interpretation are published by SpeechGeek.

For more information and performance rights, contact SpeechGeek.

SpeechGeek
806 Brownstone Way
Bowling Green, KY 42104

Phone: 1-888-742-2028
Email: thegeek@speechgeek.com
Web: www.speechgeek.com
Facebook: www.facebook.com/speechgeek

TEASER

ANDREA.

My name is Andrea Yates. I am 36 years old. My husband is Rusty. I stay at home with our five children—Noah is 7 years old. John is 5 years old, Paul is 3, Luke is 2 years old. Mary is 6 months old. This morning, I killed my children. All of them. I killed them because I am a bad mother. God wanted us all to be punished.

INTRODUCTION

It is impossible for any of us to understand how a parent could murder a child, and yet the latest figures show that nearly 200 children in the United States are killed every year by their own mothers. For Texas housewife, Andrea Yates, this unspeakable act occurred not only once, but 5 times. On the morning of June 20, 2001, Andrea drowned her children in the bathtub. Yates's 2002 conviction of capital murder was later overturned on appeal in 2006. She was committed by the court to a high-security mental hospital in Kerrville, Texas*, where she resides today. The question is: How do we even try to figure out why she did it? The following is Yates' edited confession just hours after the murders. "The Yates Transcript" by Erica Mehl.*

ANDREA.

Rusty and I met when we were both 25. In 1993, we were married and a year later had Noah. We told everyone that we thought God expected us to have six children. And we almost did.

After Noah was born, I heard Satan speak to me for the first time. So I told Rusty that I thought I needed some help. The doctors gave me medication for depression, but it didn't work. Rusty was at his wits end. He introduced me to his missionary friends, Michael and Rachel. I told Michael that I worried about Satan getting a hold on Noah and he told me that parents were to be held accountable for the actions of their children.

Rusty and I went on to have four more children—John, Paul, Luke, and Mary--and things were going well. His job at NASA was good and I was able to keep my spirits high, home-school the children, and teach them to be good, submissive Christian children.

A few weeks ago, Rachel was at the house when looked at me and said, "Andrea—don't you know that you are wicked? You are evil—all of us women are in God's eyes. We are daughters of Eve, who was a wicked witch and tricked Adam into eating of the Tree of Knowledge. Rusty told us that you don't listen to him. You know that a wife should do her husband's bidding—it is the wife's job to be subservient to her husband. Michael told Rusty that the window of opportunity for us to minister to you is closing. God is telling us that your children are on the path to evil because YOU are on the path to evil. You must repent or your children will suffer. I knew that something would have to be done.

Rusty left for work this morning at 9. When he left, the children were having their breakfast. They were eating their cereal and I had just given Mary her bottle. I filled the bathtub with water. It was time to do it. I needed to save them from everything—from me. I am a bad mother. I knew it had to be done. This was meant to be.

I let the water in the bathtub reach about 3 inches from the top. I went into the hallway and picked up my 3-year old, Paul. I put him in face-down. He struggled for a minute or two and then it was still. I laid him on the bed and covered him with a sheet. And then I did the same to Luke—he's two. And then it was John's turn—he's 5. I called him in and told him to get in the tub, but he wouldn't do it. So I grabbed him and put him in the water face-down. He thrashed around, but I was able to over-power him and then he stopped breathing. I put him on the bed with Paul and Luke. And then I put the baby, Mary in the tub. She had been crying on the floor of the bathroom the whole time. She barely fought me. It was easy for me to drown her. I left her in the tub and called my oldest, Noah, in to see me. He came into the bathroom, saw Mary floating in the water, and said, "What happened to Mary?"' I didn't say anything. He turned and ran out of the bathroom. I chased him down the hallway and grabbed him and put him in the tub. He's 7 and fought me so hard, but I overpowered him and held him face-down in the water while Mary was still in the tub with him. I took Mary out and put her on the bed, but I left Noah's body in the tub.

And then I called 911. I told them that I needed a police officer sent to my house at 942 Beachcomber Street. And then I called Rusty and told him to come home. I told him it was time—and I had finally done it. The police officers got there first and I told them that I had drowned the children. I led them to the bedroom and then to the tub where Noah was still floating face-down.

And then I could hear Rusty yelling and crying near the front door, but I didn't see him. I know it was hard for him. Rusty is a good man. A good father. He tried to help me. I had warned him before that this was going to happen. It was time for all of us to be punished for my not being a good mother. My children weren't righteous. They stumbled because I was evil. The way I was raising them they could never be saved. ... Luke Chapter 17 Verse 2 says that it is "better for someone else to tie a millstone around one's neck and cast them in a river than let them stumble."

They were going to perish if they kept being my children. I wanted God to take them up. Up to heaven and save them. Save them from me. And now Rusty is going to be rewarded—he can start all over again and have a good life—a clean slate. Don't you see? I saved us. I saved ALL of us…

Additional quality oral interpretation
literature is available online at
http://www.speechgeek.com